Gentle scolding and then positive reinforcement.

Small Dog Safe

Yes

Comments (Small Dog)

Get Out gets excited with small animals. He has been introduced to small dogs wearing a muzzle.
After introduction and settling, he behaves well with small dogs.

Cat Safe

Correctable

Comments (Cat Safe)

Get Out is very excited when he meets cats. If the cat tries to run away, Get Out gets excited and wants to chase. Much like with small dogs, he should be introduced and get to know the cat in his muzzle.

Good With Young Children

Yes

Comments (Young Children)

Get Out is very friendly and loves children. He is very unaware of his size and might accidentally knock a small child over in his excitement.

Turn Out Routine

I let Get Out immediately after getting up, after breakfast, at lunch, in the evening, after dinner, and before bed. He notifies me if he needs to get up during the night.

Potty On Lead

Yes

Garbage

He will investigate and/or eat.

Stairs

He has been able to manage 5 stairs but is still learning larger sets

Floors

He does well on all floors including hardwood

Counters

He will investigate food on counters and attempt to steal high value foods (meat).

When is the hound crated?

- Bed Time

How does the hound handle being crated?

He handles the crate well for sleeping. I feed him in his crate so it has a positive association. He dislikes being crated when I leave and often cries until he settles down.

What does the hound enjoy?

Get Out enjoys everything. Walks, people, treats, food, and affection. He has an excellent personality and is ready to live his best dog life.

Does the hound have any fears?

Get Out dislikes being alone and will suffer from some separation anxiety when you leave. This is normal for most dogs and his new owners. He tolerates loud noises, well.

What type of temperament does the hound have? (Shy, outgoing, confident, etc.)

Outgoing and confident. If he is feeling shy or bashful, positive reinforcement helps.

How does the hound handle new situations?

Get Out handles new situations well and enjoys seeing the world.

What type of food are you currently using?

Diamond Naturals Large Breed Chicken & Rice
