Please Describe Problem

Milo had a crack in his hock at the end of his racing career but has since healed up and does not cause him any issues. It's something to be aware of but should not be something to be overly concerned about.

Heartworm Preventative Administered

---

Cat Safe

Yes

Comments (Cat Safe)

Milo tested cat safe but is not currently sharing a home with one

Good With Young Children

Not Sure

Comments (Young Children)

Milo hasn't had much of a chance to be around kids, but he's such an easy going guy that we can't see him having any issues with kids

Turn Out Routine

Normal turn-out routines - at wakeup, before we leave for the day, when we get home, etc. He does get a lunchtime turnout because our own/older hounds can't get all day like they used to, but he would be fine to go a normal work day without being let out.

Potty On Lead

Yes

Garbage

Has not been an issue with him

Stairs

In process of learning at the moment

Floors

No issues with floors

Counters

He has stolen an item or two but all in all he tends to leave counters alone

When is the hound crated?

- 8 Hour Work Day

How does the hound handle being crated?

Milo has crated well during the day. As long as he gets his treat he is happy to go in. He wasn't a fan of being crated at night so we left him loose early on with just a muzzle. Didn't take him long to settle into our routine and has graduated to being left loose without a muzzle at night.

What does the hound enjoy?

He's an absolute nutter for playing with toys so there's no way you can ever have enough for his liking. He's a very affectionate and playful guy that really enjoys his time with people.

Does the hound have any fears?

None known. He hasn't been exposed to things like fireworks or thunderstorms since being with us so that remains to be seen.

What type of temperament does the hound have? (Shy, outgoing, confident, etc.)

Very outgoing and happy go lucky kind of guy. Milo is a really sweet boy that seems to get along with everyone perfectly fine.

---

How does the hound handle new situations?

We haven't had a chance to expose Milo to a whole lot quite yet with it being winter, but he is always happy to go out and about for walks and explore. He does have the personality where he seems that he'd enjoy going on little adventures.
