Comments (Cat Safe)

She's very interested in our 3 cats and wants to chase when they run. Due to this, she is always muzzled when loose in the house and someone is always watching her. As long as the cats are laying still, and if she tries to nudge them, we tell her NO and she'll typically leave them alone.

How does the hound handle being crated?

She's perfect in the crate. Quiet at night, and spends a portion on the day in there as well since I can't always watch her and the cats.

What does the hound enjoy?

She loves attention. I think she would love curling up on the couch and napping with her human. She loves rubbing against you and getting lots of rubs. She's just a very happy girl.

Does the hound have any fears?

No fears that we've seen.

What type of temperament does the hound have? (Shy, outgoing, confident, etc.)

She's very outgoing and happy. Loves new people and running in the yard with her foster brother.

How does the hound handle new situations?

From day one coming into our house she's done great. She rides great in the car, laying down most of them time.
